Notes for Johannes Aurand
E-mail forwarded by Jerry Aurand (Gerald L. Aurand - aura9785@@trumbull.kent.edu) to Pete McLallen on 9-30-1998: ----- My ancestors arrived at the Port of Philadelphia 29 September 1753 and disembarked on 2 October 1753. The ship that carried them was the EDINBURGH, master John Lyon (Rupp, OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE) from Rotterdam via Cowes--

arrived 25 July, departed 28 July 1753 (LLOYD'S LIST). According to the contract between Lyon and Daniel Havard in May 1753 (Rotterdam Notarial Archives) the EDINBURGH was a ship of about 200 tunnes. After several attempts, she left Philadelphia for Madeira about a month after her arrival. She ought not to be confused with another EDINBURGH, which regularly carried German immigrants to Philadelphia several years before and after 1753 and which arrived at that Port about two weeks prior to Lyon's EDINBURGH (Rupp). From all that I can determine, this was her only voyage carrying Palatines to Philadelphia. Jerry Aurand(Fillan) ----- And in a second E-mail from Jerry on the same date: ... I have a Xerox of the contract between the Rotterdam merchant, Daniel Havard, who was responsible for bringing the Eberachers to that port and that of the captain of another 1753 ship, the ROWAND, with the Rotterdam Archives providing excerpt from the EDINBURGH contract, which for some reason could not be copied. It was a 200 tonne ship. That contract also provides the name of the agent who met the migrants at Ruhrort to escort them, as authorized by a specific 1750 act of the States-General concerning Havard, across the Netherlandish border. LLOYD'S LIST also provides the date the EDINBURGH arrived at and departed from Cowes (25-28 July 1753). -----
